

Friendly reminders...

- As a CCIA Approved Tag Dealer you are responsible for gathering information from producers at the time of sale in order to issue tags in the CLTS. It is important to gather as much information from the producer as possible so the CCIA account ID can easily be located.
Recently, the CLTS Account Search function was updated so you can search to find account phone numbers in the Account Search result.
- A form is required for account changes, such as change of account ownership. Please keep us advised of changes in ownership, location, amalgamations, etc.
Information can be updated using the new Dealer Contact feature, in the CLTS Account Information section. Please update any changes to your account, so we have the most up to date information.
- It is your responsibility to notify CCIA when your insurance has been renewed and provide a copy to CCIA confirming coverage annually. Copies of insurance are to be forwarded to the Dealer Registrar at CCIA on or before expiry. All approved dealers are required to have and maintain Commercial General Liability Insurance and Product Liability Insurance as part of the CCIA Dealer Agreement contract.

Some things are better together

Applicators and tags are designed to work seamlessly together. To avoid mechanical issues or poor retention with products, ensure producers are using the applicator recommended by the manufacturer for the application of each tag. Please remind producers to purchase the recommended applicator for their tags.

The Temple Tag® ComfortEar® FDX-B and HDX tags are approved for application to non-breed specific beef cattle tags using the Herdsman II applicators only.

Destron applicators are designed to work specifically with approved Destron eTags.

Tag and applicator compatibility are listed in the product description in the webstore.

Login to your account at https://tags.canadaid.ca/en/pivot.sn?s=Home_D

If you need clarification regarding tag or applicator pairings, please contact CCIA 1-877-909-2333 and by email at info@canadaid.ca.

PLEASE NOTE: Quality claims are only valid if the recommended applicator is used to apply tags.

Help your clients to not receive an On-Hold Transaction message

Producers receive an On-Hold Transaction message if they submit a transaction for tags that were not issued to them by the Approved Dealer. As an Approved Dealer, it is your responsibility to issue the tags to the producer's CLTS account within 24 hours after the purchase has been made.

THE FACES OF CCIA:
Meet
Jody Scheirlinck

CCIA National Field Services

Jody has been with CCIA for seven years. She started as an Alberta Mobile Field Representative and has been part of the Field team for the last two years. Jody brings grassroots knowledge and experience to the team and enjoys working with producers at trade shows and workshops.

Growing up in Del Bonita, Alberta, on a purebred and commercial cattle operation, Jody attended Olds College for two years earning a diploma in Agriculture Business. Jody continues to operate a purebred cattle herd with her husband and two boys.

Jody's passion for agriculture comes through in her work and she can often be found educating about the importance of traceability and the role that each of us play to keep the industry sustainable and safe for our consumers. "I love agriculture and see how important it is to our economy and day to day lives."

Help producers prepare for proposed regulations

by encouraging them to obtain a premises identification number (PID) and having them contact CCIA to update their CLTS account number with their PID

What does a PID do? Premises Identification is a way of linking livestock to land locations. It is the first necessary step in traceability.

When producers have a PID linked to their CLTS account it allows for traceability information to be accessed quickly for the protection of animal health, public health and market access for your industry.

Why do I need to ask them for a PID? A PID will be required for tag purchases once the proposed amendments are in place.

How is a PID obtained? A PID is issued by the provincial government where the land is located. Ask your clients to contact their provincial government, listed below. It is the producers responsibility to share their PID with CCIA and make sure their CLTS account is up to date to avoid reporting issues. Provincial governments may not automatically share the producers PID with CCIA.
