CCIA

Bill of Rights

Our promise to you.
Your obligation to the Canadian traceability system.

Producer's Rights

- Complimentary client support for Canadian Livestock Tracking System (CLTS) data reporting and tag purchasing
- Protection of privacy of all producer data in the CLTS
- Purchase tags, applicators, and accessories from CCIA or Authorized Dealers
- View their own data on request
- Access to no-charge technical support for tagging, reading and
- reporting traceability data
- Free support for defective CCIA ear tags
- Competitive national price for approved CCIA tags

Producer's Obligations

- Report tag issues
- Use the proper applicator while applying tags
- Install tags as per manufacturers instructions
- Keep CLTS contact information and Premises data (PID) accurate
- Reduce/remove tag snag hazards in areas that livestock frequent
- Apply tags before animals leave the place of custody

CCIA's Rights

- Provide regulated data to stakeholders as mandated by Health of Animals Part XV regulations
- Collect current, up-to-date tag/producer data
- Sell and distribute tags, applicators and accesories
- Refuse information inquiries outside of proper channels

CCIA's Obligations

- Collect regulated data as determined by the Health of Animals Part XV regulations
- Protect industry and government privacy
- Ensure adequate supplies and access to approved tags
- Ensure accuracy and timeliness of regulated data
- Supply tags that meet minimum national technical standards
- Accept trace data in different forms, such as the CLTS MOBO App

To learn about how CCIA makes traceability stronger,
VISIT: https://www.canadaid.ca